SENATE RESOLUTION SEPARATING LEAGUE AND TREATY IS FOUGHT.

ANTI-RADICAL BILLS INTRODUCED

Execution Proposed For Bombers; Alien Deportation Recommended.

Washington, June 13.—After a conference today a group of leading democratic senators announced they had decided to prevent a vote if possible on the resolution of Senator Knox, which would provide that the league of nations covenant included, unacceptably.

Radical bills designed to bring to an end activities of radical agitators have been introduced by Representative Aswell, democrat of Louisiana. One would provide that any person not a citizen of the United States, who should attempt to destroy life or property by use of an infernal machine or other means, should be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction be sentenced to be executed.

Would Deport Aliens
Deportation of aliens who withdrew their declarations of intention to become citizens to escape military service during the war, was advocated by a bill introduced by the American flag, is provided in the other bills.

The department of naval intelligence has not taken a hand in country-wide efforts to find out who is in the country. Daniels said today in commenting on a widely-circulated report that navy investigators were cooperating with the department of justice. Mr. Daniels stated that the department was not working with anyone closely related to the naval establishment.

UNIVERSITY GIRL BROWNED AT MADISON

Madison, June 13.—Miss Carolina Sleep, graduate student in the college of letters at the university, was drowned last evening about 9:15 in a swimming pool at the French House, near the foot of North Frances street. For more than an hour after she was taken from the lake by King Woodward, Peoria, who went to her rescue as her fiancé, she was heard at the Beta Theta Phi fraternity house nearby, the proprietor from the central fire station, was employed in a futile attempt at resuscitation. Miss Sleep, who lived at 531 Frances street, was graduated from Beloit college last year and had come to Wisconsin to take post graduate work. She was 22 years old and her home was at Elkhorn.

Vacation Days Have Begun; Kiddies Happy

Costumed as cowboys, Indians, sailors, soldiers, japs, and some actually returning to the garb of babyhood which they but a few months back so scornfully thrust aside, the kindergarten class of the Washington school, bade farewell to their small classmates, who in the fall will demand entrance to the first grade, and they can demand, for each is armed with a miniature diploma.

The party was held in the kindergarten room of the Washington school building, Thursday morning. The teachers, Misses Vee Rowley and Lucy Swift, directed the activities, and they were many, specially when the refreshments were served: pink ice cream, stick candy (probably red), and ever the children's delight—animal cookies.

The first grade also had fitting exercises for the last day. They too had ice cream and cake. Miss Marie Gerth is the first grade teacher.

Miss Agnes Smith, teacher of the fifth grade, took her class up the river yesterday afternoon on a picnic. The same program was followed by the seventh grade, which also with the teacher, Miss Mable Madden, enjoyed an outing up the river.

A splendid program was presented by the eighth grade under the direction of Miss E. Lenore Cassford. Today the grade will go to the river to Moles Grove for a picnic.

The program for the eighth grade was as follows: three speeches, Edward Benson, Harry Elgeron and Roy Lightfoot; piano solos, Elgeron and Edward Benson, Isabel Johnson and Alton Thomas; reading, Alice Hill; Harry Peterson, reading "The Citizen's Creed," and "Your Flag and My Flag"; singing by the school.

All of the schools of the city closed today, for the summer vacation. In most of them, the pupils only came this morning to receive their promotion cards and were then dismissed.

GERMAN CABINET LINE-UP REVEALS UNBROKEN FRONT

Berlin, Thursday, June 13.—The position of the German cabinet has been strengthened as a result of the speeches of Gustave Noske and Philipp Scheidemann, at Weimar, according to the view of the political press in Berlin. The proceedings of the convention thus far also appear to have demonstrated that the opposition to the members of the cabinet in their own party has been overcome, the line-up of the majority socialists seeming to reveal an unbroken front.

Sooms Compromise.
Zurich, Switzerland, June 13.—Philipp Scheidemann, the German minister, president, speaking at the majority socialist convention at Weimar, attacked the proposals of a "new revolution" the object was to substitute soviet for the present government. He declared he would never make a compromise on a question of principle where all compromise was impossible.

Herr Scheidemann remarked that while the political situation might be clearly defined, the economic situation of the country was very obscure.

CITIZENS' STRIKE FAVORED IN BERLIN

Berlin, Thursday, June 13.—A secret session of the citizens' council of Berlin held Wednesday, declared in favor of a citizens strike, according to the independent socialist newspaper, the Freiheit. The attending newspaper includes a number of leading manufacturers, merchants and professional men.

A strike was declared necessary because the present government was incapable of redeeming Germany from chaos.

It was planned, according to the newspaper, to have airplanes distributed, leaflets announcing when the strike begins. All the food industries, including the bakeries, would cease work, according to the plan, this leading to civil war, which it held would help the bourgeoisie attain political power.

Manufacturers and commercial interests Di Prethit declared, advocated the utmost severity "as the only means of overcoming the laboring classes."

The citizens would be armed and leaders are reported to have said the troops would be entirely on their side.

FIRST BREAK MADE IN THE UP OF WIRES

COMMERCIAL UNION SUBMITS SETTLEMENT CONDITIONS TO POSTAL

SEEK TO CLOG UP TELEPHONES

Konenkamp Predicts Virtual Paralysis Of Service To Smaller Cities.

Chicago, June 13.—First steps toward a settlement of the national wire strike of commercial telegraphers were taken today when officials of the Commercial Telegraphers' union of America submitted to the Postal Telegraph company conditions upon which an agreement could be based.

The conditions, in effect, provide that the strike would be called off so far as the Postal is concerned if that company will agree to wage adjustments after full control has been given to the company by the wire administration.

The conditions were forwarded to New York officials of the Postal Telegraph company today, according to reports here. Union officials said no order issued by Postmaster General Burleson and still in effect prohibits the commercial companies from signing wage contracts with their operators. For this reason, it was stated, the conditions were so drawn as to provide that actual wage agreements would not be entered into until after the government had discontinued all control.

Urges Girls to Join Strike.
With the announcement of the settlement of the wire strike in the country complete, so far as commercial business is concerned, by next Monday, picketing committees in scores of towns and cities today set to work urging girls to join the strike.

Many of the girls already are affiliated with the international brotherhood of electrical workers which has called a strike for next Monday. They will affect 30,000 workers according to strike leaders.

"We expect to make the telephone tie-up as complete as that of the commercial telegraph," said S. Konenkamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

He also stated that the commercial service to the entire city will be virtually paralyzed tomorrow when the union railroad telegraphers refuse to handle commercial business in line with an order issued yesterday.

Says Strike is Growing.
"The strike is growing. It started small, but before next Tuesday there will be no doubt as to its extent," he said.

The brokers' division of the telegraphers' union, which has some 2,000 members, will hold meetings in the east and the west, probably long before the strike begins, to discuss the strike. It is estimated that the number of workers' idle today exceeds 22,000, with the number swelling hourly.

Lid to Go Off.
Springfield, Ill., June 13.—"The lid goes off Monday morning, unless conference between representatives of the electrical workers and officers of the company bring about a settlement of differences in the meantime," said Charles Ford, secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in a statement today.

"Conferees are being held in Washington today and it is probable we will continue holding them until the strike call becomes effective unless the issues involved are settled."

Twenty-eight settlements throughout the country have been effected between the company and the players, according to Mr. Ford, and 11,200 men and women will not be included in the strike call, as a result of these settlements.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING SOLDIER

Despite the vigilant search being conducted by the Rockford police, the military authorities at Camp Grant, and the Rockford chamber of commerce, no trace has been found of Glen Longford, son of Mrs. F. P. Gehrke, 218 East Milwaukee street. The missing youth received his discharge at Camp Grant, May 25, and has not been received from him since that day.

Mrs. Gehrke, frantic with the thought that she is never to see her boy again, said today that if no word was received from the Rockford authorities today, she would go to Rockford tomorrow to assist in the search.

According to the story told by the heart broken mother, Glen Longford, a member of the Rockford high school, was honorably discharged five days later. He wrote his mother assuring her that he was anxious to get home and would leave as soon after he was discharged as possible.

SEN. SPOONER TO BE BURIED IN MADISON WITH SIMPLE RITES

New York.—Former Senator John C. Spooner's body is on the way to its last resting place at Madison, Wis.

It was taken from the New York residence Thursday morning and is accompanied by the widow and one son, Philip Spooner. Another son, Willet M. Spooner, Milwaukee, will meet them at Chicago and go on to Madison.

Burial at Madison.
Madison.—Men high in the affairs of the nation and the state will come here, Saturday, to pay their last respects to former United States Senator John C. Spooner, whose body is being brought back for burial to Madison, which remained home to him during all the years that he was absent.

The body will reach Madison at 8:30 Friday night, and public funeral services will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the Baptist church. The body will be laid to rest in the family lot at Forest Hill, situated near the final resting place of many of Mr. Spooner's old friends and neighbors.

The honorary pallbearers, all of whom have not been selected, will include Chief Justice John B. Winslow of the supreme court and others who were intimately acquainted with the late senator. Many members of the legislature will attend the funeral.

Members of the Madison G. A. R. will attend the services in a body. Burial of the funeral had been arranged up to Thursday night, but members of the family made it known that the services, both at the church and at Forest Hill, would be marked by simplicity, which to Senator Spooner's old friends and neighbors, will be in keeping with his life while he moved among them.

Need Anything in Line of Ruined Castle?

London, June 13.—If anybody wants to buy a ruined castle, described as "of great historical and romantic history," now is their chance, according to advertisements inserted in the local papers.

It is not exactly modern, dating, as it does, from 1666, and the advertiser states that "considerable outlay will be required to reconstruct it."

The castle is assured, however, that if reconstructed "a unique and charming home would result."

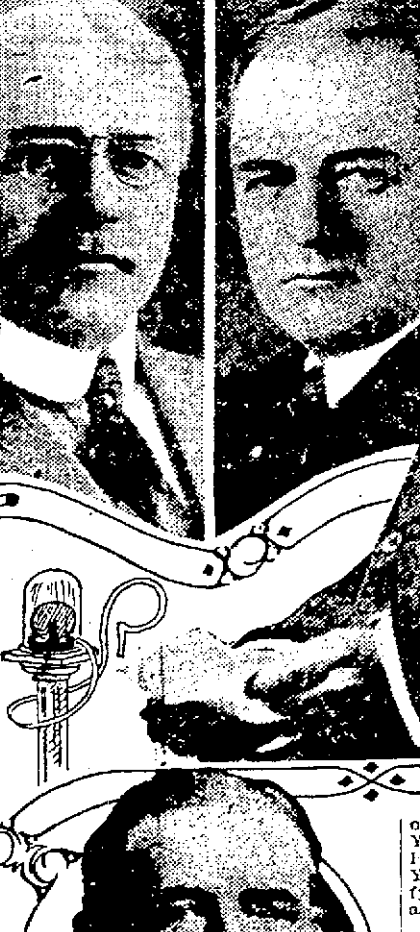

Nothing is said about ghosts, but it stands to reason that a castle of this age must have a large and lively flock of such insects. So here's a chance for some of America's munition millionaires to acquire a small castle.

It is that goes with it. An added inducement is that there is good trout fishing near by, so that when tired of gazing at his unique and charming home the purchaser can rest his mind by going fishing.

Cottage, One Season, $7,500 Breaks High Rent Record

NEAR PANIC IN JUAREZ DUE TO SMALL FORCE; NO ATTACK PREDICTED

El Paso, Tex., June 13.—A personal inspection of the territory east of Juarez and as far as Guadalupe, in which a large force of Villistas under Felipe Angeles was reported several days ago was made by a representative of the Associated Press.

No considerable force, according to the inhabitants of Guadalupe, has been anywhere near that town.

A party of four men from Villa headquarters, visited Guadalupe, Tuesday. They reported that Villa Felipe Angeles, and Martin Lopez were at Villa Ahumada with 500 men and more were coming in there constantly.

They said that there were detachments at Samalalaca and Tieraabancas and at other points about Juarez at short distances from that city.

A conservative study of the situation leads to the conclusion that the near panic in Juarez has been caused by small and active advance parties which are moving rapidly about the city and that no attack in force is contemplated at present. If at all, Juarez is quite this morning.

Shakespeare Festival Revived, First Since '14

London, June 13.—Stratford-on-Avon saw a return to prewar conditions recently when for the first time since 1914 the Shakespeare festival was once more held.

Lovers of Shakespeare from all over the country gathered at Stratford, among them being many Americans. After a service in the little church there were games and speeches, with a small pageant in costume of the Elizabethan period.

The festival concluded with a number of folk dances of Tudor times, performed by some of the actors in the pageant. The statue of Shakespeare was fittingly decorated with streamers and flowers as were the Ann Hathaway cottage and the Shakespeare house and museum.

TREATY TEXT TO BE ALL REWRITTEN

Paris, June 13.—The reply of the allied powers to the German counter proposals is likely to be made public Monday according to present plans. It is expected that the text of the German counter proposals which has never been given out will be made public shortly.

ANSWER TO GERMAN COUNTER PROPOSALS READY BY MONDAY. REPARATIONS ARE RECONSIDERED

Lloyd George Makes Eleventh Hour Attempt To Reopen Debt Question.

London, June 13.—The reply of the allied powers to the German counter proposals is likely to be made public Monday according to present plans. It is expected that the text of the German counter proposals which has never been given out will be made public shortly.

The Council of Four today devoted both of its sessions to the revision of the text of the treaty. When the forenoon session ended the council had sent to the revision commission 18 reports. Among those remaining to be passed are several dealing with important subjects.

The peace treaty with Germany will be entirely rewritten and reprinted for the incorporation textually of the explanations and clarifications contained in the allied reply to the German counter proposals.

Unchanged in Principle.
While unchanged in principle, virtually a new document will be presented to the Germans.

It is understood the new treaty will be made public the day of its delivery.

The Council of Four, it developed, decided that simply to attach the reply to the original document was impracticable, as important clauses could be left obscure and imperfect.

Hence the decision to rewrite the document.

It was commented in peace conference circles today that this action makes obsolete the text published in the United States.

The question of large amounts of British and French goods finding their way into Germany from the occupied regions has been raised in the supreme economic council. The proposal has been made that the control be instituted to prevent one nation trading without the knowledge or consent of the others.

British on Reparations.
The British effort has not met with a sympathetic reception by the reparations commission, to which it was referred. It seems improbable that the proposals would be accepted, but they constitute one of the causes of the delay of the reply to the Germans.

Premier Orlando of Italy, left for Rome last night intending to confer with the parliamentary leaders in secret relative to the work of the peace conference and to settle certain urgent questions, notably those concerning the Carinthian frontier. General Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian army, accompanied the premier and will be in personal control on the frontier.

CHAMBER PROTESTS DAYLIGHT BILL REPEAL

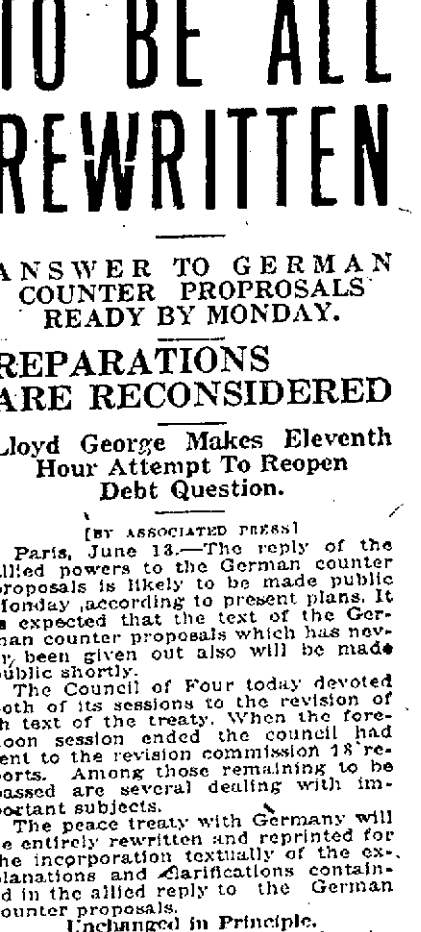

The Janesville Chamber of Commerce, representing 700 industrial and business citizens, will enter a strong protest against the repeal of the daylight saving law. This decision was reached at a meeting of the board of directors last night.

Telegrams of protest were to be wired today to Senator L. LeRoy and Congressman Clifford E. Randall.

A rider repealing the daylight saving law was attached to a bill appropriating money to the senate committee yesterday. Should the rider be passed it would become effective with the turning back of the clocks in October.

The bill was first introduced in congress, a year ago, the Chamber of Commerce urged its passage.

Make Themselves Clothes.
Among the animal tailors are the smooth caterpillars. Naked and unarmed, their extreme vulnerability places them at the mercy of numerous enemies; but many families of them are remarkable for making little sheaths or garments for the protection of their bodies, notably the silkworm, than whom the flies of the field are not more gorgeously arrayed.

Asbestos Deposits.
In the Kotzebue sound region, western Alaska, there are asbestos deposits said to rival the richest in the world. Asbestos, in its natural or virgin state, is as white as snow, soft as the softest silk and lies in long strings or layers, easily torn apart with the fingers.

80 High School Seniors Are Presented With Diplomas

Eighty seniors were graduated last evening from the Janesville high school, at the Congregational church. The feature of the exercises was the presentation of the 80 diplomas, tied with the class colors, orange and black, by J. T. Hooper, president of the board of education.

At 8 o'clock, the 80 seniors followed by the speakers of the evening proceeded two by two, to the room. Four wicker baskets filled with peonies, and a vine-covered trellis on the platform, harmonized with the simple white frocks of the senior girls. The uniformity in dress among the girls was marked. All of the dresses were simply made, and every girl wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. This is the first year that such uniformity has been carried out.

Rev. F. F. Teurs gave the invocation. G. A. Bassford, principal of the high school, acted as chairman of the program. He made the numbers and which he gave each speaker.

Miss Mildred Smith made the audience welcome by the salute of the dress. She accepted the appreciation to teachers, citizens and school board members for endowing so much to the class of 1919. In closing she spoke of the great opportunities awaiting the graduates.

As a representative of the class in music, Miss Willa Penning was delightful in her piano solo "The Song of the Sea."

Parting words and well delivered were the parting words of valediction which Miss Elizabeth Moulton had the honor of bidding her class mates.

She said, "Classmates, we come to the end of our high school days. As an army of soldiers we have been in training for months that we could go forth to meet our ideals. Happy we are to go forth and yet sad that the four years of training have ended. They have been interesting years. Life-long friendships have been formed. The class has shown the cooperation of a well organized army."

Guided Through School. In school activities and athletics our superior officers have been ever near to guide us. How much we owe to them for our success! Where ever we go, on to school or into the world, there are many, many enemies which we must overcome. Idleness, discouragement, and discontent must be overthrown. The world of today is in need of trained citizens, big enough to take the job of reconstruction, men and women capable of fighting.

"Many changes have taken place since our class entered high school. The world war has been fought and won. Many changes in our city are taking place. How much we owe to the citizens for the new high school. In this hour of farewell, let us go over the top to win the world for democracy."

Supt. Faust Talks. The ambitions of the graduating class with evidencing data was brought out by H. H. Faust, school superintendent, in his address as follows: "In recent years there has been growing in the minds of people a much more liberal view as to what constitutes an education, and as to what an education should be."

For the first time since the World's Fair shows opened here last Monday night the show was not stopped by rain, Thursday night. On the three previous nights, the streets were deserted when it started to rain. Large crowds of people packed the streets where the shows are placed, and officials of the company assert that they are enjoying the biggest business of the year.

JOHN C. SPOONER.

Wisconsin loses one of the outstanding figures in political circles of a few years ago, in the death of John C.
Spooner, former United States senator. The law practiced one of its most brilliant members. The nation has lost a good citizen.

Sixteen years a United States senator from Wisconsin, each one of which, in the words of President Roosevelt, was "a direct financial loss which he could ill afford." John Colt Spooner relinquished the position with which the legislators of his state had thrice honored him and retired in 1907, two years before his completed term, to re-enter the private practice of law and acquire a competence for himself and himself in his declining years.

Regarded as one of the ablest constitutional lawyers, a brilliant debater and one of the greatest authorities on international law, Senator Spooner like Roscoe Conkling, John G. C. C. and Thomas Brackett Reed, and George F. Hoar, left public office a poor man.

During the twelve years of his final law practice in New York he was counsel in much important litigation, including the federal government suits against the trans-Atlantic shipping ports, the naval stores and Oregon-California land grant cases.

John Colt Spooner came from a family of soldiers and statesmen. His forebears came from England in 1637 and settled at Dedham, Mass., whence they spread to other settlements along the New England coast.

His great-grandfather Philip, with his brother, Michael, attained distinction in the Revolutionary war. The mother of John C. was Lydia Lord Colt, a daughter of Roger Colt, Plainfield, Conn. She was of Welsh descent and her people were among the earliest
New England settlers.

The father of John C. was Philip Loring Spooner, for many years a distinguished member of the early Wisconsin bar. John C.'s uncle, Benjamin, was a soldier both in the Mexican war and in the war of the rebellion.
John C. was born Jan. 6, 1843, at Lawrenceburg, Ind., and came to Madison, Wis., with his parents and two brothers and a sister, in June, 1859. After attending the city schools of Madison for a time, he entered the University of Wisconsin at the age of 17. Here he was an apt student, but was especially noted as one of the best debaters in the Hesperian literary society.

In May, 1864, Spooner raised a company under the one hundred-day call and, declining a commission, went out as a private in Company D, Fifth regiment, composed of college students and professors. On his return in September he again enlisted for "three years of the war," and went forth as captain of Company A, Fifteenth regiment, first detailed at Fort Leavenworth, and then in the northwest to quell Indian outbreaks in the Sioux country. He was brevetted major, March 13, 1865, and was dismis-sioned on June 13, 1866. His title of colonel, by which he was often known, was given him while serving as a private and military secretary to Governor Fairchild, to which position he was appointed in Jan., 1867. In 1868 he was appointed quartermaster general of the state and served two years with rank of brigadier general and in 1869-70 was assistant attorney general under Charles R. Gill and Stephen S. Barlow.

Soon after that he abandoned public service, removed to Hudson, Wis., and devoted himself for many years to the practice of law. He soon became attorney for the West Wisconsin & Northwestern Railway Co.
When those two roads were merged to form the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha he became the general counsel of the new company.

His greatest service was rendered in behalf of the University of Wisconsin in drafting and pressing to final passage a bill levying a general tax to be added annually to the University fund income. The precedent thus established was followed until recent years when the legislature saw fit to again return to the practice of making appropriations for its support. He was appointed a university regent in 1882 and served until February, 1884.

The single term in the legislature was Mr. Spooner's sole connection with politics while at Hudson, except to take the stump for his friends and to attend conventions in their behalf.
until he was elected United States senator in 1885. He severed his connection with the Omaha road May 5, 1884, when the Vanderbilt interests obtained control of the road and were asking him to bring a suit for $1,200,- 000 against Messrs. Flower, Dows and Porter, stockholders in the road and his personal friends and clients.

When he took his seat in the senate his reputation as an orator and a jurist of wide attainments had preceded him, and he soon acquired a place in that body usually attained, if ever, only after years of honorable service.

Mr. Spooner continued as senator until 1891 and soon moved to Madison from Hudson, to be near his sons, then attending university. He formed the partnership of Spooner, Sanborn & Kerr, later Spooner, Sanborn & Spooner. It was during this period that he successfully conducted the important gerrymander cases for his party in the Wisconsin supreme court.

On expiration of the term of United States Senator William P. Vilas, who had been elected his successor in 1891,
Senator Spooner in turn succeeded Vilas, taking his seat in 1897 and six years later was returned, continuing to serve until May 1, 1907, he having resigned March 3, to enter the law practice in New York City.

During the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations he was the trusted adviser of both and their spokesman on the senate floor. Senator Spooner nominated Gov. Rusk at Chicago in 1888, seconded the nomination of Harrison at Minneapolis in 1892. The same year he led the forlorn hope of his party in the state, as its candidate for governor, having been defeated by George W. Peck.

Mr. Spooner was married Sept. 10,
1868, at his Aunt's E. Main, Madison, Wis. They had four sons, one of whom, John C., died in 1881. Those living are Charles Philip, a lawyer of Seattle; Willet Main, an attorney of Milwaukee; and Philip L. Spooner, a singer, New York.

During these years of service Senator Spooner's name had become in-separably attached to many measures of historical importance, such as the amendment creating the Philippine civil government of the Philippines, an amendment to the Sherman antitrust act which made possible the prosecution by the federal government of the Standard Oil Co., and the law under which the Panama canal was constructed.

As chairman of committee on claims he saved the United States. It was said, hundreds of millions of dollars sought by unjust litigants and was largely responsible for the ratification of the Cuban, the dominican and the Algeiras and many other treaties. Of the Algeiras settlement, it has been said, it averted more than ten years ago the threatened outbreak of a general European war.

Senator Spooner had many opportunities to amass a fortune, but chose to content himself with his senatorial salary of $7,500 a year. Three times he declined important posts by President McKinley—those of secretary of the interior, membership on the United States and British joint high commission and attorney general of the United States—he declined them all.

DISABLED SOLDIERS.

In his work throughout the country in behalf of discharged service men, Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war in charge of fining employment for demobilized soldiers and marines, has learned that in many sections people generally do not know just what the government is doing to enable men disabled in the line of duty to re-establish themselves in civil life.

Inasmuch as the government took these men out of civil life and placed them in camps and in the trenches where their disabilities were incurred, the obligation upon the government to re-establish them in civil life is clear. And it should be understood that those injured in France are not the only ones entitled to assistance, for all disabled service men, whether injured in the United States or abroad, are provided for equally.

For re-establishing the disabled in civil life, the authorized agency of the government is the federal board for vocational education, which is charged by congress with the "vocational training of disabled soldiers and the placement of rehabilitated persons in suitable and gainful occupations," after their discharge from the army.

The government, it will be noted, not only trains the disabled man, thus enabling him to assume again with unimpaired efficiency, the responsibilities of civil life, but also assists him in securing employment at the end of his period of training.

In some large cities crippled men in uniform are seen on the street engaged in "panhandling" kindly disposed persons. It has been found that in nearly every case these men were just plain, ordinary fathers in the guise of soldiers, who took this method of enlisting unthought sympathy from the public. There is no excuse for these fathers. No man disabled in the service need engage in any sort of

Sketches From Life -:- By Temple

Nobody Home

he engage in any occupation whatever which is not becoming to him.
Anyone seeing men in uniform so engaged should inform them of provision made for their training and placement by the government. If any man after being informed what his opportunities are continues his gaming, a favor will be done the great body of self-respecting disabled men who are trying to make something of themselves, if every case of this character is reported to the nearest branch office of the federal board for vocational education.

If any disabled service man who is considered by the bureau of war risk insurance to be as much as 10 percent disabled, will get in touch with the federal board for vocational education, Washington, or with any one of its 14 branch offices, the federal board will place them in educational institutions, when education is necessary and feasible, where suitable trades or occupations will be taught them according to their individual experience, capacities and preferences. A disabled man so incapacitated that he cannot take up his old occupation will be allowed to choose any occupation or trade which he thinks he would like to follow, subject, of course, to approval by the federal board, which is interested only to be assured that the man is fitted to pursue the occupation or trade elected.

While in training a man receives an amount equal at least to the base pay received during his last month's service in the army, navy or marine corps, but in no case does he receive less than $65 per month if a single man, or less than $75 per month if living with his dependents, or less than $85 per month for himself if living apart from his dependents—in addition to allowances to his dependents if married and living apart from his wife during the period of training. In all cases the wife receives $18, and each minor child $10 per month.

These payments are made to enable the man to support himself while in training, and are in lieu of subsistence, etc.

It is very important that the disabled man shall be made to realize fully the advantage of taking training to insure his future welfare. At the present time there are many patriotic employers of labor who are willing to take on disabled men, whether they are really capable of performing their duties or not. But don't forget that in a few years the work of the really efficient man will tell and he will be the one who will get ahead.

reason—"Why mother likes Calumet best." Sign your name and address,

The boy or girl who sends in the best answer—in 50 or less words
—why mother likes Calumet best, will receive a $5 Cash Prize.

The Only "Rules"
Are These

Only boys and girls in or "under" the 8th grade in any school are allowed to enter

This Bank has no selfish motive or keen desire to profit save as the result of the legitimate prosperity which it helps its customers to reach. The customer and ourselves both have their own "merchandise" to sell—their own "line of business." But both may be helpful to each other.

This is the constructive idea that finds expression here—the co-operative idea which we earnestly strive to maintain both for your good and for ours. It is the "Dollars and Sense" idea and it enables us to not only render a truly efficient banking service, but to sustain it also.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

A QUERY.

Oh, Myrtilla,
Queen of my heart,
Whom I have cherished
These long, long two years,
And whom, some day,
I faint would wed—
In my fat head,
There is a question,
And no suggestion
Of an answer.
Both agree:
I ask you kindly
And without A doubt,
Sincerely,
I've known you long,
And in that time
I have not seen
An ear upon your head,
Though it is said
That woman who has ears
Just like the men.
In fact I have not seen
A woman's ear in full fifteen
Or twenty years.
Now, in these shells
From mortal gaze
Throughout your days?
Of it, perchance,
You women really
Have no ears.
Or such,
I'd like to ask just
How you hear so much.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HOME TO RADIANT FUTURE.

Back to laughter and love,
Back to peace and gentle ways;
Back to skies that bend above
With the charms of happy days.
Homeward now our heroes come.
From the awful fields of strife,
Now the cannon's voice is dumb,
Death has given way to life.
Men go forth no more to die.
Youth may cling unto its dream;
Mothers now may cease to sigh,
Shells no longer madly scream,
O'er their loved ones as they toll;
DANGER does not hedge them round;
Night shall hide no blood stained soil,
Night shall bring no new-made mound.
Now to sweeter conquests we Turn our thoughts and build once more.
For the boys we hope to see
As we did in days of yore,
Safely we may toil and plan,
Bravely we may do and dare;
Now the future holds for man.

A CHANCE TO LIVE

AN AWAKENING.

"Fred" took a firmer grip on her arm and hurrying up to the other announced "Little Millie's all right now; she's going to stick to Freddie. Come on, let's have another sip of tea." Annie was really terrified. Affecting to be jolly, laughing with the rest, she waited her chance and when they turned into a car and Annie let go her arm for a moment, she got behind a pile of pleasure hunters who were too slow to get out of their way, then followed a corner and hid herself from the crowd.

Somehow she worked back along the street, hurrying across the open spaces, working through the denser crowd, till she saw, at last, the comforting face of a policeman's uniform, and asked about the car. Just ahead of her, a man in a suit and she could take the "L" for a dime or the surface for a nickel, transferring at something or other street.

It was half-past one when Annie got home. Her mother was walking the floor with distraction. But she was fearful and peevish, rather than angry, and so relieved at the return that she didn't scold. Annie feared, however, that she was really confident in her mother. Annie told of the Coney Island trip. She did not mention the episode at Teller House. She could not have told that to anyone. She could not have told that she lay awake, staring at her narrow strip of stars and trying to solve the old eternal problem of how to get her head above the rub of things.

She was through with the life, coarse pleasures of her poor, little pleasure-hungry factory friends, who only way out of her unrelieved pay was less. The burden of the family now rested almost entirely upon Annie's slim shoulders.

MID-SUMMER WRAP OSTRICH TRIMMED

By ELOISE.

The summer evening wraps of this year are perhaps the daintiest and most attractive that we have seen for many summers. It is because the cape is back again. There is no newer for evening wear which has as many possibilities as the cape. The new models for formal wear make use of every material from chiffon to tulle. Dainty fairy-like capes are made of two pieces of chiffon or different colors. For instance, a rose colored capelet is cut in voluminous folds with a pointed edge instead of a hem; then French lace is put on the same. Only a little shorter, and placed over the rose, the two are fastened at the neck and a collar of rose and blue and silver brocade makes the cape complete.

Here is a novel idea which has been developed by an exclusive New York designer. Golden brown chiffon is cut long and full and draped over a slightly deeper shade of tulle. Bands of flowing ostrich are used for trimming and an unusually wide band is used to form a graceful collar. The idea of using ostrich will probably become popular because it is so chic and seems so much more than for trimming thin materials, such as georgettes and chiffon.

The way to lighten housework and lessen drudgery is to place a "Hoover" in your home—it helps tremendously. We'll be pleased to demonstrate for you at any time you say, for it's a mighty good investment, and guaranteed to pay.

RESPECTED AND RESPECTABLE.

Some months ago I heard a woman tell her daughter, a girl of 12, that she ought to respect old age. The occasion of the rebuke was that an old lady had been distinctly rude to the little girl and the little girl had responded in kind.

She is a young person with considerable poise and a burning sense of justice and when her mother reproved her in that way she thought it over for a moment and then said: "Yes, mother, but oughtn't old age to be respected?"

But Young People Are So Intolerant Anyway.

I couldn't help feeling that was a pretty good report, and I sat down to write about it. And then as I sat before my typewriter I fell to thinking and I said to myself, "If I do that will not young folks take it as a text to lose lack of respect and tolerance for any older person whom to their impatient all knowing point of view does not deserve respect."

And so I didn't write it. But the other night when I was reading Ephesians I came across these verses: "Honor thy father and thy mother. And ye fathers provoke not your children to wrath."

And then I thought, "Well, if Saint Paul wasn't afraid to admit that the obligation of honoring was two sided, don't suppose I need be."

Of Course One Should Be Tender to Physical Infirmary.

It goes without saying that one ought to be gentle and chivalrous towards the physical weaknesses of old age because they are unavoidable but surely mental and character weaknesses and not unavoidable except in second childhood.

There's no use tilting at them, because as a rule they are altogether too firmly fixed to be changed, but how can one be asked to respect their possessor in that particular?

A friend of mine used to play bridge with an elderly man who had the very exasperating habit of talking across the board. He would make absolutely unallowable comments on the bid and would tell his partner some card was good when he feared she might trump, etc. My friend was very patient; with him and then one day when I happened to be watching the game she took the liberty of cutting for herself instead of waiting for the player who should have cut to come back from the telephone.

"I'm sure no one will mind," she said. "Whereupon the old gentleman towards whom she had shown such tolerance, said most testily, 'Well, it isn't allowed.' She didn't say a word, just gathered up the cards, and waited to have them properly cut."

Not a Justification.

"Why didn't you call his attention to the things he does that aren't allowed?" some one asked her afterward.

"Oh, well," she said, "He's an old man."

To refer once more to 'Blismarck.' "That may explain but does not justify this act."

As our hair turns gray we all want the traditional respect that belongs thereto. Is it not well then that we concern ourselves with being respectable?

To Keep Milk Sweet in hot weather add two tablespoonsful of lime-water—which is beneficial rather than otherwise—to every pint.

When Broome Begin to Wear, cut the bristles level again, and the brush will do its work as well as ever.

When You Want Cakes to look nice and yellow and have eggs to spare, use a pinch of turmeric—not too much—and the cake is a fine and rich color. It must be sifted in with flour.

To Remove Paint From Windows. Dissolve one ounce of sal soda in a pint of boiling water and use it on the spots with a sponge. Wash off with hot water as soon as paint is softened.

The same mixture will clean paint spots on woodwork.

THE WISHING PLANE

When Jack found out that he was lost in the underground passageways of the forts at Verdun, he was tempted to do what most little boys would do, which was to cry. Then he happened to think that Captain Brave wouldn't cry, so he decided not to—for a little while at any rate.

He listened a while and finally thought he could hear some one talking, but for the life of him he could not tell which way they were. At last, in desperation, he started through another one of the tunnels. I don't think you have ever been in quite so long a tunnel as that in which Jack found himself.

The tunnel walls were built of concrete and steel and were many feet thick, Jack knew. Of course there weren't any windows at the sides and the only openings were at the end. Jack thought with alarm what an awful fix he would be in if he should find the end of the tunnel closed.

When he stopped to listen again, he couldn't hear a sound. He kept on and on until finally he came to another gun. It was just the same as the others Jack had seen, and the same confusing tunnels led away from it.

"If I ever get out of here I don't ever want to see another tunnel in my life," said Jack. Then a happy idea struck him.

He climbed up the machinery around the gun and, straddling the barrel of the gun—that is the part from which the bullet comes, you know—he worked his way up to the end of the gun. From his place on the end of the gun he could just see out of the underground fort enough to see hundreds of other little dome-shaped mounds containing other guns.

He was on top of the concrete wall and so he could see the concrete wall and so he couldn't climb from the gun to the ground.

He caught a glimpse of somebody that looked like Captain Brave in one of the gun placements many yards away. Jack yelled with all his might to try to attract the man's attention, but couldn't make himself heard. All most ready to cry, Jack climbed down from the gun and started through another passageway in the hope of finding his friends.

So far the tunnels had all been lighted dimly by electric lights, but the one in which Jack found himself this time was dark. He had to keep one hand on the side of the tunnel to prevent him from bumping into the wall. The floor was uneven and once in a while he stumbled. If ever a little boy was really truly discouraged, Jack was.

He wondered what had happened to Booh. "Booh must know I am lost and unless he is lost, too, he ought to be finding me pretty soon," said Jack to himself, for he remembered how Booh had found Jane on Beautiful Island when she ran away to play with the little brown baby.

As Jack heard the end of this tunnel he heard someone crying. "Why he rushed into the little gun room at the end, there was Jane. She had fallen onto the floor and was crying as if her heart would break, and she was all alone, too."

Mimic Aerial Battle Proves Too Realistic

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Crawfordsville, Ind., June 13.—Aviators from the Rantoul, Ill., Ground School staged a mimic aerial battle here in the interest of a campaign for recruits for the flying service. But the battle was too realistic for Crawfordsville Masons, holding initiatory exercises. A fire extinguisher tore loose from one of the planes and dropped through the roof of the Masonic Temple.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was married when I was just past sixteen and I knew nothing about love. I had many best friends and I thought I was going to be very happy.

We were never meant for each other. I can see, as I never could not along very long. He neglected me alone to seek pleasures elsewhere. I did not scold and when I knew he was gambling and drinking and spending money and never even told him I knew, but just tried every way to make our home happy to keep him.

At last I got so discouraged I just didn't care when he came or went and he noticed that I didn't love him. He confessed everything he has done and has asked me to forgive him. I felt terribly about it.

Two weeks ago I took my boys and went home. He was just about crazy and begged me to return. I did not want to but I did. Now I am so downhearted that I don't know what to do. I have never been happy with him and never will be.

I am wondering if duty should hold me and make me sacrifice all my happiness. I have known a man older than myself for almost two years. I love him very much and he loves me. He is a gentleman in every way. I just go on offering always and giving up everything that would make me happy?

My husband is happy and contented since I have come back and is always telling me to love him. He knows I have been true through all his follies and that makes him love me more. But I feel as though he tried me too long to even feel different toward him. I feel as though I must be happy or I can't stand it. I cannot be a pal to my boys and they notice it, but I am so blue I can't help it. I want to do anything to go any place, but I just can't go on like this. What shall I do? I THANK YOU.

I believe that you will find greater happiness remaining with your husband and children, than divorcing your husband to marry the other man. If you feel that you have changed and give your husbands what they did not appreciate the virtues of the first man until they had married a second time.

If possible, go away for a month and see what a good rest will make your look at the situation in a different light.

Return to your husband and for six months put your whole soul into making a happy home as possible. During that time do not see or correspond with the man you love. This will take great courage and character. You will get your part, but in the end you will get greater happiness. At the end of that time, if you are still unhappy, you will be justified in leaving your husband and seeking happiness elsewhere.

His new love for you may prove to be dearer than the love of the other man. Of course you realize that the ideal way would be to find happiness in the home of your children's father.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am troubled with small warts on my hands and they seem to spread. Please advise.

(2) I have brown hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. What colors do you think I could wear best?

ANSWER.—(1) Nitric acid will remove warts easily. Buy a small quantity and apply it to the wart with the end of a toothpick. Touch on the wart again if the acid touches the skin around the wart it will burn and hurt badly. After two or three applications the wart will dry up and drop off.

(2) Different shades of blue and pink are probably your best colors. You can also wear a certain shade of yellow, and if your skin is fair you can wear lavender.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Little One: Anxious to know if there is any possible way to make me grow a few inches. I am nineteen, a girl—not a young girl—of nineteen, and you weigh 124 pounds with clothes on, and am 5 feet and 1 inch tall. A young sister is much taller than I am. (Miss B. B.)

ANSWER.—I know of nothing that will influence the stature of adults. Sometimes doctors suggest thyroid administered by the family physician seems to stimulate growth in children whose growth is retarded. Assuming your clothes weigh 10 pounds, you are underweight. Take a yeastcake after food twice a day. Yeast is rich in vitamin, and vitamin is essential for growth.

(The Late Lamented Egg Nog.—Is an egg nog taken daily beneficial? Could it be the cause of my skin being sallow? My skin is growing more sallow, and there are brown spots under my mouth and on my forehead. Can you suggest anything for this? (C. M. C.)

ANSWER.—Egg nog plus milk plus sugar plus cinnamon plus vanilla plus nutmeg makes a rather inviting knock-knock for one who for any reason cannot eat eggs. It could scarcely account for a sallow complexion. The brown spots are best removed by taking a half a dozen rolls before breakfast every morning, half a dozen more before retiring every night, and a couple miles of oxygen on the hoof, two in diet—in other words, daily physical exercise three times daily to increase oxygen absorption.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mul-sified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of soft, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, and excessive oil. The hair is quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mul-sified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order. PROF. HENRIETER says: "The liver is an organ secondary in importance only to the heart."

We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom.

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockage in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take castor oil or a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

John, the Tailor, and Bill, the Baker, May Yet Call on Royalty
London, June 13.—It is suggested by the Daily News that the king and queen have royal "at homes" when Bill Smith the baker and John Jones the tailor, not to be confused with the few, can be received at court without appearing in short pants and the rest of the "presentation regalia" which now sets a patriotic Britisher back some $5.00.
The Daily News believes that such "at homes" would more closely cement the ever-growing friendship and homely familiarity between the reigning house and the people.
The king is now, only debutantes of the rich and nobility, who can afford special court clothes costing more than $500, can be presented at court, while the equally expensive jewel suit for the king's men of the army and navy who had done heroic deeds, were held weekly, and thousands of persons who previously never saw more than the palace were ushered into the building on rainy days, along with their women folk.
Sir Kingsley Wood believes the suggestion will meet with royal favor because "there have been no king and queen in history who have moved so much among their people."

Before the war there were royal garden parties, when the king and queen met the leading men and women from all classes.

BRITAIN HAS TO 'NURSE THE BABY' OF TRADE

London, May 19.—The British government still finds it necessary to "nurture the baby" of trade, even if big profits have to be put into the "bottle."
Sir Auckland Geddes, acting president of the board of trade, told a deputation of Liberals who called on him to urge that the present restrictions on imports and exports were hampering business in this country and preventing British merchants from competing on equal terms with Americans in neutral countries.

Sir Auckland admitted that profits of several hundred percent were being made in wool, but he was of the opinion that the import restrictions must be kept despite needs of the consumer and the consuming industries. He said he thought much unemployment would be caused if the restrictions were to be lifted suddenly. Trade conditions were just beginning to return, he argued, and nothing should be done to hamper it.

Gamblers Fined Although They Put Up Good Play

Beatrice, Neb., June 13.—J. C. Boyd, a farmer of Virginia, Neb., has a new way of destroying the rats who had been feasting in his corn crib. Backing his tractor up to the crib, he turned on the exhaust pipe through an extension under the crib. When the job was done, his "crop" was a tub full of dead rodents.

ENGLISH DOMINANT IN CHURCH SAYS LUTHERAN PASTOR

Lindsborg, Kan., June 13.—The growing domination of the English language in the work of the Swedish Lutheran church was emphasized by the Rev. G. A. Brande, Rock Island, Ill., president of the Lutheran Augustana synod, in his opening address before the sixtieth annual convention of the body here today. One thousand delegates and visitors from various sections of the United States and Canada are attending the week's meeting.

"The language of the land is rapidly becoming the dominant language and in some conferences the retrogression of the Swedish is very marked," he said.

The establishment of a mission in Africa next fall, was announced by the president. He also reported favorable progress from the missionaries in China, but declared political conditions hampered the work of the church's representatives in India.

Home-mission demands, Reverend Brande said, were outstripping the resources of the church for that purpose.

Educational institutions and charitable homes maintained by the church are in good financial condition he reported.

An increase in the total of the pension fund of the church was announced and the statement made that the amount allotted to aged and infirm ministers would soon be increased from two hundred to five hundred dollars annually.

RUMANIA STRIPPED OF ALL WAR SUPPLIES

Athens, June 13.—Germany has stripped Rumania of everything, writes a Red Cross agent from Budapest. There are only 84 locomotives in the whole country for the transport of troops, munitions and supplies. Of her 17 theoretical divisions, 11 have had to be demobilized for lack of food and equipment. There are not sufficient horses to transport field artillery, 40 percent of the Rumanian medical staffs died during the war and there are virtually no airplanes, armoured cars nor tanks.

The greatest need is food. Food for the army and food for the civilian population. America has sent a dozen food ships to Rumania and the American Red Cross is distributing food at caucuses and by means of rolling soup kitchens wherever the need is great.

In the Dobruja, where the smallpox epidemic is at its worst, the American Red Cross has many doctors and nurses.

America has loaned Rumania $5,000,000, but the financial situation of the country remains critical, writes the Red Cross man. This he attributes to Rumania's inability to export and to the broadcast issue during the German occupation of worthless banknotes.

In addition to food the Rumanian army and civilian population desperately needs clothing. Cloth for a suit of clothes costs $50 a yard. A yard of linen for shirts costs $8 and a shirt of ordinary quality $40. A pound of butter costs $5.50.

Record Walnut Crop Promises $15,000,000

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—Southern California will produce a $15,000,000 crop of walnuts this year, according to present prospects. This sum will be divided among 4,000 ranchers.

The preliminary survey by the California Walnut Growers' association indicates the present crop will break all records. Last year with 15,000 tons yield, valued at $1,000,000 was the largest previous crop.

"Damon and Pythias" Brought Up to Date

North Adams, Mass., June 13.—A modern version of "Damon and Pythias" was given in this city when Harold W. Weigert, a New York City bank clerk, was arrested by the local police for the Greenfield police on a charge of running into an automobile in that town and not stopping to report the accident. When Weigert was arrested a male companion with him in his automobile refused to leave him and went to the police station, where he was locked in the same cell with Weigert.

Chicago Will Boast World's Biggest Stadium

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Chicago, June 13.—This city in the near future will have the largest stadium in the world.

This huge playground was assured recently when the South Park board unanimously voted to raise $1,000,000 towards defraying the expense of the "largest stadium in the world."

Grant park, Chicago boosters got together and clinched the thing when they sent word to the board to "speed things up" as "money need be no object when it comes to putting the thing over."

Plans are being considered for a "bowl" similar to the Yale bowl, which has a seating capacity of 75,000. The proposed Chicago bowl will have a much greater seating capacity—possibly 100,000.

Hound Pup Traps I. W. W., Then Sheriff Arrests

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Monrovia, Cal., June 13.—To one long-eared hound pup goes the honor of catching an I. W. W. in this district. Deputy Sheriff Coats, after firing two shots at the fleeing agitator, lost sight of the man in an orange grove. The pup was watching the chase, barking with glee. Coats, completely baffled, looked down at the dog which had run to his side. "Sit him, pup," said the sheriff. The hound pup ran down the orange grove a hundred yards, lifted his front paws against the bark of a tree and barking furiously, looked first up the tree, then at Coats. The sheriff followed and arrested the man.

JANES WILL INVADE ALBANY SUNDAY

By George McManus.

NEW PITCHER WILL SHOW HIS WARES

With a record of three victories and but one defeat, James A. Murphy's Lawrence Lunch League will invade Albany county Sunday afternoon to battle the bats against the Albany village nine. The game is billed to start at 2:45.

For the first time this year, the Janes will have an opportunity to bat against their former manager, Elmer E. Elmer, who has been waiting two weeks for a chance to show his wares to the local gang and when he gets into the box Sunday he will pitch the best ball he is capable of in an endeavor to subdue the city slugs.

A new pitcher was signed yesterday by Manager Murphy. The new bird built from Rockford and his cognomen is Sam Longquist. Murphy says Sam is a regular heater; that he saw him work in Rochester, Ill., and that he was well pleased with his assortment of curves and his control. He has had several years' semi-pro experience and wants to establish himself with local fans by a win over Albany.

Allie Rich in Reserve
If Longquist shows the stuff Sunday he will be used again on the following Saturday in the game here against the Telling All-Stars of Milwaukee. Rich will be held in reserve Sunday with Vinny ready to mount the slab if Allie is off color.

The Janes will present the usual line-up. Sunday with the usual line-up. Sunday with the usual line-up. Sunday with the usual line-up.

JESS DOESN'T WANT HIS FACE MUSSSED

BY JOHNNIE ECKHART.
Fistic Referee difference in men. Some men care more for their personal appearance than they do for whatever of this world's goods they may have within their grasp. Jess Willard, who will risk his pign against Jack Dempsey at Toledo, July 4, is one of that kind. Willard is not worrying over his chance to beat Dempsey. He thinks it will be a clean-cut, easy victory; he's chock full of confidence. But Willard is worrying about his face.

It seems funny that a man in the light game should worry about his physiognomy, but I know after a talk with the champion that he would almost prefer to lose his crown rather than have his facial expression changed one whit by a tell-tale bump or scratch.

Willard realizes that Dempsey is a rough customer. Accordingly, he knows that the rough and ready, all style made famous by Dempsey might be able to put a punch through his face. He actually broods over the possibility of a cauliflower ear, "paper" lips or eye "shanty" and silently he plans a line of defense that will save his face even though it may be at the cost of his laurels, via a solar plexus or stomach punch.

The champion does not openly admit his concern for his facial arrangement, but his manner and his inquiries unfold his thoughts in this respect. "I doubt very much if Dempsey can reach my face," he said after his second fight at Toledo. "I know Jack and he's planning great things for his punches at my stomach to accomplish, but when I prove to him that he will not be able to touch my face, he will give up. I think I will be able to thoroughly upset all his plans and win in a walk with my trusty left," said Jess. Dempsey is distinctly a brawler. He has a great deal of his stories were told through his ability to reach the jaw, and there is no good reason to figure he will not reach the champ's jaw.

BASEBALL SCORES TO BE WIRELESS HEART OF JUNGLE

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Cambridge, Mass., June 13.—From the heart of the Amazon jungle in South America, Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, American explorer and ethnologist, and his wife, who pick from the air by the use of a wireless, are planning to broadcast the scores of the major baseball leagues.

Dr. and Mrs. Rice will carry a wireless on the yacht which will take them 1,000 miles up the Amazon River. When they leave the yacht to penetrate the jungle they will have a new and powerful portable wireless outfit. This apparatus will be powerful enough to pick up messages sent out by the high powered United States government wireless station at Arlington, Va., just outside of Washington. From this station every night a message is sent out to various stations and ships throughout the world. Dr. Rice plans to "catch" this report from the air even when he reaches the wildest part of the Amazon jungle.

Mrs. Rice who accompanies her distinguished husband, was formerly Mrs. George D. Widener of Philadelphia. She is heiress to the Elkins millions.

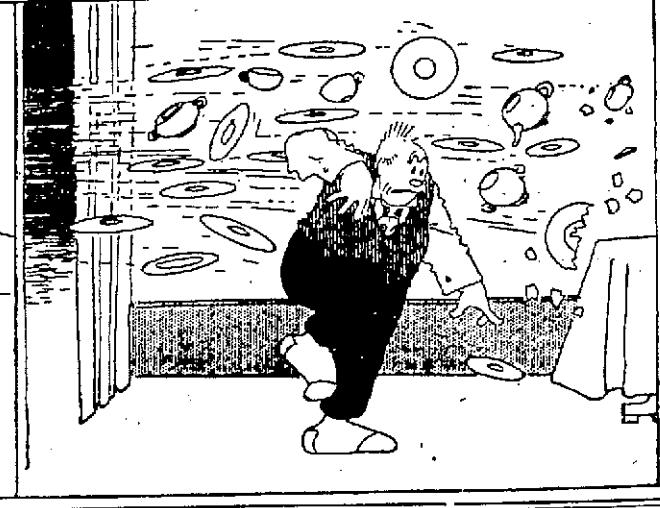

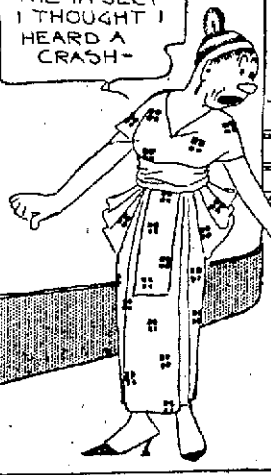

Girl With Foot Caught in Track Frog Saved

Litchfield, Ill., June 13.—Miss Olga Cline was hurrying to work. She heard a faint cry. Investigating, she found a small girl with her foot pinned in a railroad track frog. A train was approaching. No amount of wiggling would unloosen the child's foot. Finally Miss Cline unlaced the child's shoe when the latter's foot was yanked out just as the train thundered by.

LABOR SITUATION IS BRIGHTER IN PARIS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, June 13.—The labor situation was brighter this morning and there was a fair prospect of a general settlement before long. The miners' union has written to M. Colliard, minister of labor, and Louis Locheur, minister of munitions, re-stating their case and asking for intervention on behalf of the miners' demands before the chamber of deputies.

When the vote was taken in the chamber to reject the union's demands for an eight-hour day there were, M. Colliard pointed out, only 27 deputies present and he said he would do his utmost to bring about a settlement of differences which exist before the call for a general strike is effective on Monday.

Premier Clemenceau will see delegates of the transport workers' union today and hope is entertained that some would be able to end the strike so that normal service may be resumed tomorrow.

WIFE TELLS OF LOOTING AND HUSBAND'S DEATH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Mt. Clemens, Mich., June 13.—The story of the looting of the Commercial hotel at Columbus, Ohio, by Mexican bandits said to have been members of the Villa band was told on the witness stand here today in the Henry Ford Chicago Daily Tribune libel suit by Mrs. W. T. Ritchie, whose husband, proprietor of the hotel, was shot and killed by the marauders.
"There were 10 or 12 patrons in the hotel, according to the witness, some of whom armed themselves when they heard the Mexicans pounding at the door."
"My husband," she said, "advised against resistance, hoping that the police would be able to end the robbery. He went down stairs and that was the last I ever saw of him. His body was consumed in the flames which after the place had been looted, destroyed the hotel."
Mrs. Ritchie said the men were routed out of their rooms by the invaders. The women escaped by the arrival of some of Col. Slocum's soldiers from the barracks, she said.

"Cave Man" Chagrined When Wife Still Lived

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Cleveland, Ohio, June 13.—"Well, what do you think of that?"
Such was the comment of Albert Majors, "cave man," when he learned from the police that his wife was not dead. Majors appeared at Central police station and calmly informed the desk sergeant that he had killed his wife. Police rushed to the Majors home and found the wife slumped in a bundle. When they had removed the ropes she told the police that her husband tied her up and threw her out of the house. Six months in the work house and $200 fine was the cost of the "cave man" tactics.

SAMSON PLANT WILL ORGANIZE BALL TEAM; TO LAY OUT DIAMOND

The organization of a crack baseball team among the employees of the Samson Tractor company is now under way, this being the first step in the general program for athletic activities planned for the employees. Great interest is being shown in the move.

It is fully expected that the Samson team will be formed within two weeks. Rivalry for places on the first team will be keen and will get two or three aggregations in the field for the daily practice necessary in whipping the men into shape, giving all interested in this form of recreation a thorough opportunity to demonstrate their ability in the national sport.

A good diamond will be laid in the open level space just behind the Samson plant. This diamond will be restricted to the use of Samson Tractor company employees only, and as this property is owned by the Samson Tractor company it must be available for the use of the employees for athletic sports when they desire. Arrangements will be made, however, so that on dates when the diamond is not in use it can be rented to other teams upon proper application to the manager of the Samson team.

There is excellent material for a powerful team now employed at the Samson factory. Several former league players now employed at the works have manifested keen interest in the team and as the plants are completed, and additional men employed in both the works and office, the athletic organization of the company expects a stronger team continually and all are looking forward to an aggregation well worth watching.

The only restriction in regard to eligibility for the practice work and representation on the team is that all players must be employed by the Samson Tractor company.
As the work progresses notice will appear from time to time, and within a very few days the Samson team will be open for challenges addressed to the Baseball Manager. No Sunday games will be played by the Samson team.

The Samson athletes hope that other industrial teams will be formed in the city. Perhaps a City Industrial league could result and cooperation to that end can be depended upon from the Samson athletic interests.

WILLARD, DEMPSEY, PUZZLE AUTHORITIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Toledo, O., June 13.—With the heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey set for decision three weeks from today sporting authorities here are frankly at loss to select their favorite. All are agreed that probably no heavyweight championship contest since that between James J. Corbett and John L. Sullivan has caused such a variance of opinion.

"Wait until we see how Willard works in his training bouts a week before the match," invariably is the answer of acknowledged boxing experts.

Willard is finishing the second week of his serious preparation much improved and there seems little doubt, in the opinion of experts, that he will be in first class condition within two weeks.

The champion finished his workout yesterday, but little wearied, while his sparring partners were panting for breath as a result of the pace Willard set for them.

Dempsey is eager to resume his boxing, but must wait for his damaged eye to heal. Manager Kearns refuses to allow the challenger to pull on the gloves until Sunday.

A young giant named Ketchel, recently discharged from the naval service, is due to join Willard's staff of sparring partners today. Ketchel, described as a 192 pounder with a style similar to Dempsey's was recommended to Willard by an eastern friend as "And."

ALLIES MAY ADOPT A. E. F. MASS SPORTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Wednesday, June 11.—The system of mass games followed by the American expeditionary forces has amazed European military authorities and it is possible that it may be adopted in the inter-allied armies and the schools. Records show that during March there were 4,000,000 participants in indoor baseball, volleyball, tug of war, and informal games. Through the agency of these games, athletics of ability have been discovered, the men have been greatly benefited physically and there has been built a general morale which has appealed to military officers.

A series of special demonstrations of American mass games has been arranged with the inter-allied athletic meet which will begin June 24. From 4,000 American soldiers there will be picked a number of men for the exhibitions. For the purpose of arranging the demonstration Dr. H. F. Kellenberg, a Y. M. C. A. mass games expert, has been attached to the army office in charge of exhibitions.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

Manager Huggins didn't surprise the critics recently when he benched Second Baseman Derrill Pratt in favor of Young Fewster. Pratt has been a disappointment since joining the Yankees, both in batting and in the field. Huggins, it will be recalled, got Pratt and Plank, who never reported, from St. Louis Browns a year ago in exchange for Schocker, Godson, Nunamaker, Hendryx, Maisei, Cullen and a cash bonus. Shocker and Godson still are with the Browns and are doing good work. Nunamaker now is with the Cleveland. Cullen has quit the game, while Hendryx and Maisei are in the minors. Incidentally, Huggins traded Walters, Caldwell, Gilhooly and Love, with $20,000 in cash to the Red Sox for Lewis, Shore and Leonard, the last named refusing to be a Yankee. In making these trades, Huggins didn't put over anything on the St. Louis and Boston clubs, it would seem.

Pat Moran didn't see Morris Rath toss out Burt Shotton for the final out of the game at Redland field, when Hod Eller hurled a no-hit game. "I was afraid to look," said Pat. "A few years ago, when Alexander was pitching for me at Philadelphia he had a no-hit game in his grasp when Arthur Butler came to bat, with two out in the ninth. Alex got in the three-and-two hole on him and Butler hit the next one for a single."

"So when Shotton came up for the final out this time I just sat on the bench and looked down at the ground. Kneuter was sitting beside me. When I heard the bat hit the ball I asked him what it was, without looking up. "It's a slow one on the ground," Kneuter told me.

"I continued studying the ground until I heard the ball land in Daurbert's glove and the cheers of the crowd told me Hod's no-hit game had gone through and not been spoiled right at the finish."

The Giants have protested the right that total. Modestly he says that Charles Evans, the champion, and Jesse Guilford are the amateurs. The professionals include Mike Brily, who has always played Brae Burn in low figures; Louis Teller, the home "pro"; Jim Barnes, one of the coolest and steadiest of golfers. In this select company is included Jack Hutchison, Tom McNamara, Walter Hagen, G. H. Nicholls and Pat Doyle.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

The Product of the Home

By REV. W. W. KETCHUM
Director of the Evening Classes,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Except the Lord build the house, their labor is vain that build it.—Psalm 127:1.

If there is any place more than any other on this earth where Jesus Christ is needed it is the home—the workshop which turns out into the world that product called humanity. What men and women are in the world depends largely upon what they have been made in the home.

It is the exception rather than the rule to find a strong man in business or civic life who was not made so in the home. It is true that sometimes we find men of character who never had any true home influences, but when you find one man who has developed into real manhood without true home influences, you find hundreds, who because they never had them, are moral wrecks.

Let the home be what it should and the product turned out will rarely be disappointing. Our forefathers were able to lay a substantial national foundation because they were made so, God fearing men through the influences of the Christian homes in which they were nurtured.

When fathers and mothers take heed to the words of Jesus, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness" and make him first in the home, how glorious are the results! If they have family worship and seek God's help and guidance daily for themselves and their children and all their affairs, they find it unfailingly true that "God is faithful," that his promises never fail, that their every need is supplied and that his favor and blessing surpass all of earth's riches. "God is love," and the home in which he is made first is a home filled with love. Fortunate is the community and the nation which has many such homes. The men and women nurtured in them are "the salt of the earth." Without such, corruption and decay inevitably ensue.

Supporting the structure of all that is good and true and noble in the world is the godly home. Remove it, and our social and national life will soon morally disintegrate.

If it seems that we are giving the godly home a more important place than the godly individual, where, we would ask, does the godly individual come from if not from the godly home? What workshop produces him? Certainly not the schools, the shops, the market place nor even the church, without the help of the godly home. A nail factory turns out nails; a shoe factory, shoes; a wagon factory, wagons; and a home, humanity.

The ideal for commercial factories should be to turn out the best product they can. This, though, is not always their aim, for low prices and competition create a demand for articles of an inferior grade. There is no such demand, however, for the product of the home, for no quality of character of an inferior grade meets the demands of God or of the times. If a manufacturing firm aims to turn out the very best product they can possibly make, its members are always studying the problem of ways and means to enable them to approximate their ideal. How much more should parents study with God's help to turn out into the world the very best product?

In thinking of the home as turning out into the world a product called humanity, we should ever bear in mind that its product is to endure throughout the ages. This leads us back to our very first preposition, that if there is any place more than any other on this earth where Jesus Christ is needed, it is the home. Without the help and direction of the master workman, godly character cannot be produced.

The Scriptures tell us to bring our children up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," but this we cannot do unless we are ourselves Christians; so back of the product is the producer. With all the consequences involved in parenthood, it seems incredible that men and women will assume it without being themselves in a position to give to their children that which will make them the very best product, namely godliness. The child is not so much responsible for what he becomes as is the parent in whose care and training he is brought up. We cannot get away from the scripture, which says: "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it"; or, as the little girl put it, "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will go so."

Death to a Good Man.

Death to a good man is but passing through a dark entry out of one little dusky room of his father's house into another that is fair and large, lighted, and glorious.—Anonymous.

Golden Text: In nothing are we glorious, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be known unto God. Philippians IV 6.

PRAYER.

The very prominence which prayer takes in the teaching of Jesus is, in itself, sufficient evidence of its importance, effectiveness and obligation. He set the example by prayer, and he used all possible forms. The apostles observed Jesus in act and attitude of prayer. In some oratory of nature, possibly, they saw him kneeling with upturned face. His glowing statements showed the bliss of communion with God, or repose after wrestling, and the conscious obtaining of the thing desired. A goodly sight it would be to see him kneeling in prayer, for they too could learn to pray after such a fashion. The Universal Teacher taught through these supplicants all who were after him, his places and seasons. He gave first the model prayer, the ideas, the very words. The Father-noster is an epitome. Here are the needs of the heart, the needs of the race in miniature. It is the alphabet, the numeral system of from which all prayer of every description can be spelled and figured. Analyze the components of a true roused, acceptable prayer. Synthetically there is in it a father, a spirit, a cumulative power, unmatched in human language. It is the chief element of every ritual. Its perpetual repetition wears no one. It is suited alike to child and adult.

From the matchless formality which should characterize the supplicant. To set it forth he uses a current incident unapparently not of exceptional occurrence in oriental courts, then and now. The official has the title and honor, the perquisites of the bench, but lacks the indispensable traits of one worthy to hold them. The supplicant at his bar belonged to the pitiful and defenseless class. His recourse was persistent clamor, to which the self-indulgent judge finally yielded. The power of the parable is in its intensity. It is the utterance of a man who, importunately, how much more will God, the righteous Judge, keep covenant with those who stand in filial relation to him! Another illustration is added. On the black background of the Pharisee, who prays with himself not to God, and who trusts in his self-righteousness so completely that he does not even so much as thank God for his mercy, much less ask it. Jesus makes the Pharisee's humility, compunction and grief stand out like a snowy cameo.

Jesus portrays his father as Love's delight, to give. There is no indifference or disinclination on the part of God which must be first overcome by man's importunity. The delay in answer, therefore, is for the advantage of the receiver, not the giver. Judgment to discriminate between good and evil gifts for their children. They have natural affection enough to induce them to bestow only the good. I that he who denies it—now will not the Heavenly Father, infinite in wisdom, power, and love, bestow that all-inclusive gift, the life and light of the soul, the Holy Spirit, to those who, out of the vocabulary of the Father, utter and in the spirit of the parable, ask him?

The Teacher's Lantern.
Form and fervency! Their juxtaposition here is no accident. It is designed to teach us that they are not inimical; that the importunate soul can express itself in the phrase of the Father-noster. Phillips Brooks poured out his great heart in the "forms" of prayer, and loved himself, he moved all who heard him. The golden mean is to be maintained, however, between a too rigid adherence to form and a persistence in formless prayer.

Jesus is our standing pattern in prayer. He enforced his precept with his example. Twenty-one instances of his praying are noted in the Gospels. He prayed in public, at meals, long prayers, ejaculatory, intercessory for friends and enemies; all are recorded. The fervency of his prayer is described in the Epistle to the Hebrews. His supplicants were offered with "strong cryings and tears."

We are to pray without ceasing. The bird is not always literally flying, but it is ready to fly on an instant. So our souls should be ready to spread their plumes, and mount to the mercy-seat on short notice. You can no more find a Christian without prayer than you can find a living man without a pulse. Prayer is a state rather than a specific act. Benefit depends on continuity. One must have the attitude. Prayers, words are numerous in India. The prayer passed on the wheel is thought to be said with every revolution. Those who laugh at the crudity of the device ought to be instructed in the verities of Christian prayer. There is not some meaningless iteration. God does not need to be instructed or aroused. In Angelo's palace in Florence there is a closed-in the wall in the secret panel. There, alone, he wrought out his ideals. His secret pain had open reward. So of prayer. Native converts of the Solomon Islands pray with God with an intense fullness in prayer, taking hold and never letting go. Jesus said, "Do not pray like a hypocrite literally like an actor to be seen." Pray but do not faintly lose heart, despair, give up praying. Divine delay is in appearance only. Under the cold and silent mantle of winter, in the laboratory of nature, all the myriad colors, fragrances, and fruits of summer are stored and maturing. Abraham's faith stopped at ten; he should have gone on in his intercession to one. Genesis 22:12. "Glory to us and all our kindred because when told to smite the ground with his arrows he smote only three times. (II Kings XIII).

"O Lord, thankful and unworthy," an old Japanese woman's prayer at the mission. God can see a tear further than a star. Leap into the bosom of the promise. Prayer is sweet if made in the spirit which God himself gives. There must be no vanity in prayer. Grenfell says "Privilege of speech with God is inestimable. When I pass through the valley I expect to be in conversation with Him." The natives called their missionary "The man who looks up." Mind reacts on mind and mind reacts on body. Lincoln's sole concern was whether he was on the Lord's side. The former Kaiser blankly at-firm God to be on his side. Note the issue! A boy ten years old was sent to the penitentiary for a crime committed in a burst of anger, but was mercifully taken out and put in care of a Christian woman who taught him to govern his temper. One day she heard violent voices on the stairs. The next moment the little fellow rushed past her into his own room where she heard him praying. Soon he came out smiling, saying "It works."

When that revival comes the Kingdom of God will come in a day.—Morace Bushnell.

WHAT WE OWE AND HOW TO

(Tenth Legion of Applications) Scarcely in any other phase of current religious life has there been such distinct and considerable advancement as in the Christian man's relation to his money and his use of it. From the old plane of impulse, created by special appeal, sometimes pathetic and extravagant, religious people have in a large measure, moved up to the plane of the Christian Stewardship in which ones possessions are distinctly recognized as held in trust for God and for which an accounting is to be made to him as to the real proprietor. This is the consciousness and sanctity to benevolence which it did not have in the current life of the church before.

OPIUM USERS NOT ALL SICK, IS REPORT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, June 13.—[Nation-wide use of narcotic drugs for other than legitimate medical purposes, steadily increasing despite vigorous efforts in the enforcement of the federal law, was discovered by the treasury's special investigating committee which submitted a final report today.

The number of drug addicts in the United States was estimated to be in excess of 1,000,000. The committee found that imports of opium into the United States had increased twice as fast as the growth in population. Imports of opium leaves from which cocaine is made, also have grown steadily.

"It has been stated that about 90 percent of the amount of these drugs entered for consumption is used for other than medical purposes," the report said.

"While this statement is probably extreme, comparison of the per capita consumption in this country with that of other countries indicates that this country consumes from 13 to 75 times as much opium per capita as other countries."

Enough opium is consumed in the United States every year, the report stated, to give every man, woman and child 36 doses. A minimum estimate of the value of habit-forming drugs used was given at $20,000,000.

"What effect any nation-wide prohibition will have on the situation could not be definitely determined by the committee," the report said. It was that the number of addicts will increase.

FEDERAL WAREHOUSES PROPOSED IN BILL

Washington, June 13.—Construction by the government of a federal fish and food warehouse at Boston which would be the first of a series to be built in all the large cities of the country is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Fitzgerald, democrat of Massachusetts. The cost of the warehouse was estimated at $2,000,000.

"Establishment of such government-operated warehouses," Mr. Fitzgerald declared, "would bring a solution to the present high price of food. Great quantities of perishable goods are being thrown away daily which could be saved if there were places to store it until the demand for it became greater."

18-YEAR-OLD GIRL TELLS PITIFUL TALE OF TURKISH SAVAGERY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, June 13.—One of the most pitiful stories of savagery practiced by Turks or Circassians upon the Armenians during the war, from their homes into the country of the Arabs is told by Victoria Varsanabadian, a girl of 18 years. Her story has been made public here by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief. The girl was the daughter of a well-to-do merchant who had a shop in Constantinople and another at Nevseher, Turkey, where the family lived.

In her narrative to a British physician she said that her father and four brothers were deported and that her father died while on the journey. She was a blow inflicted by a genuine Circassian. Her little fortune in gold they were marched south to the vicinity of Deir-Es-Zor (probably on the Euphrates river). There they found a great congregation of refugees, said to number 7,000 families.

While at Deir-Es-Zor, Murad or Surar, the girl said 20 Armenian priests were taken from among the refugees, bound together, sent away and killed. In the river at Suva she saw 100 bodies of men, women, and children, some with their heads off.

After collecting a ransom, the Mutesarrif ordered the men of the town to be buried alive by the Arabs. The next day she said she saw the Circassians shoot down three hundred of them. Then the Mutesarrif, Zeki Bey, ordered nine of the bodies of the Armenians placed in a road and drove his carriage over them. He announced that he would kill all the male refugees over two years old. Up to that time he had buried alive by the Arabs, but he had escaped death by bribery, but on leaving said to his mother: "Mother, I am going to die. Give me your hand and I will kiss it. Forgive me anything I have done wrong to you. Goodbye." Her brother was shot before Victoria's eyes.

She declared also that she saw Armenians killed by driving wooden stakes through them, the Arabs and that eventually the Circassians began to kill all the women and children, with their knives. Her description of the massacre is too awful to repeat. She gives details of the fiendish manner in which it was accomplished.

Afterward Victoria was separated from her mother and sent to the tent of an Arab, where she said, she saw two hundred small boys from Meskeneh brought through Deir-Es-Zor to Shadadish and saw these children killed in various ways and thrown or kicked into the river.

She escaped from the Arab's tent, was recaptured by the Arabs with two other girls from Harput, but later was allowed to go her way. After a year and a half she reached Aleppo, where her story was told. She has been informed that her mother and one brother escaped from the Circassians or Arabs.

A. E. F. UNIVERSITY CALLED LABORATORY OF UNIVERSAL TRAINING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Baume, France, June 13.—Belief that the American Expeditionary Force university here has shown that it is feasible to make the United States army a great school for America, is expressed by Dr. John Erskine, professor of English in Columbia university. Dr. Erskine is one of the three members of the recently created educational corps of the American Expeditionary force.

The great university is nearing its close for the troops soon must be returned to America, but Dr. Erskine regards it as a laboratory which has demonstrated the possibility of universal training in America with the United States army as the medium.

"The A. E. F. university seems to me a significant experiment from the point of view of education in the United States," said Dr. Erskine. "I have been fascinated with the idea that we might introduce into our national life a system of universal training not yet attempted—a system which should be compulsory for all camps whether or not they are physically fit to be soldiers, which should serve as an annual inventory of our national resources physically, mentally, and morally. The university might serve as a model for the training camps which would be found in such a system; a student would be under military discipline, and would enjoy all advantages of the well administered military camp, but he would pursue whatever subjects his tastes and his situation in life might cause him to desire, from brick-laying to university study."

It has interested me exceedingly to observe, as I have advanced the idea that our army should be transformed into an instrument for education, that the idea has met with intelligent response from the experienced officers of the regular army.

"The university has come to mean for many of us here the hope that our most chivalrous soldiers, our best trained scientists, our citizens, the largest imagination may agree on a program of universal training which will quickly drive out illiteracy and all disease that is avoidable, and will fit men and women to take a worthy part in the peace time business of our country."

"If we should so organize the United States, we should be prepared against attack in time of war, and we should also be prepared, as far as is humanly possible, against prejudices and ignorances which tend to drive nations into war."
